

Dear FCC,

I would like to explain to you how very much I value the availability of the radio station K-LOVE in my life. I am a teacher and, to help my concentration, I need to listen to sane/high quality, positive "background" music during the approximately 14 (sometimes more) hours per week that I spend at my desk, grading papers and planning lessons. I have found only one other station on my radio dial that compares to K-LOVE in meeting these requirements, and would be quite distressed if I could no longer receive K-LOVE programming. In addition, this station also helps to pass long "drive-time" minutes in the car; I have to travel 40-50 minutes, one-way, to get to work and the trip becomes enjoyable and uplifting because I can listen to K-LOVE. In addition, I have been thrilled to hear K-LOVE playing in the background in SEVERAL of our local Bartlett Business, and I'm sure that this sensible, calming influence would certainly be missed if we could no longer receive it in our community. Additionally, I greatly value the local news, traffic, and weather reports that are regularly broadcast on K-LOVE; I rely on hearing these reports on a daily (or more often) basis. Another important service offered by the K-Love radio station is their prayer request line; I have submitted several requests to this service and have found much peace in doing so. I don't know how I would fill the emotional "hole" left in my life if I could no longer receive K-LOVE in my community, and I beg you not to implement changes that might threaten the clear reception of this high-quality, encouraging radio station.

Sincerely, Barbara Tuckman
